CREW RESCUED AFTER 5 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD ON SINKING VESSEL

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.]

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 2.—Their vessel broken in two under them, kept afloat by her cargo of lumber, the British schooner, Glen Afton, after five days without food, were rescued by a fishing vessel, and brought into Mobile today. The vessel's cargo was valued at $75,000. The rescued are all in a hospital, several seriously ill from their privations. In addition to starving, the hulk floated low in the water and huge seas washed over, drenching the men continually.

There are 16 maples in the United States, most of them being eastern species. The most valuable, not only because of the product of its sap but also of the lumber, is sugar maple.

How To Prevent Acid Stomachs And Food Fermentation

By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is acid in the stomach, usually due to, or aggravated by, food fermentation. Acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective agent and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisulphate of magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G.

BLOODY CLASH

"Trusting that we may be assured of your co-operation and that it will not be necessary for us to resort to more drastic measures, I am,
Yours very truly,
(Signed) "OSWALD WEST,
Governor."

Separate Instructions.

Governor West stated today that Miss Hobbs and Colonel Lawson, who is also superintendent of the state penitentiary, are working under separate instructions, and one was not consulted in regard to the actions of the other.

"The violations of the law in Copperfield must cease, and if I cannot accomplish it by peaceful methods, I will use force," declared Governor West today.

Miss Hobbs on Way.

Miss Fern Hobbs, secretary to Governor West, clad in a neat tailored gown, was this morning en route to Copperfield to close all of the saloons in the little frontier town. On the same train with her, but acting independently, was Colonel B. K. Lawson, of the coast artillery, and five militiamen, chosen on account of their courage.

Miss Hobbs was scheduled to arrive in Copperfield, the last relic of the untamed west, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. She will leave on the same train on which she arrives. If, however, after her departure, the governor's orders are not obeyed, Colonel Lawson has instructions to immediately declare martial law, close all saloons, confiscate the stocks of liquors and ship them out of the community.

Orders to Finzer.

Saturday evening, it was learned today, Governor West issued the following orders to General W. E. Finzer, of the Oregon National Guard:

"Showing having been made to this office by the citizens of Copperfield, Oregon, that there is an entire lack of law enforcement in that community, and that neither the county nor city officials appear to be able or willing to offer relief, Col. B. K. Lawson is hereby directed to select from the Oregon National Guard one officer, and not to exceed 10 enlisted men, to leave for Copperfield tomorrow (January first) evening. Upon arrival at that city, they are to perform such services as the instructions which will be furnished Col. Lawson direct."

The order is under written "Commandant-in-Chief of the Oregon National Guard," but being a copy is not signed by the governor.

Must Sign Remonstrances.

"Our proceedings have been regular in every way," said Governor West today. "Miss Hobbs has gone as the representative of the governor, at the head of the militia, to ask for the co-operation of Copperfield citizens for law and order. She will arrive at 2:30 this afternoon. She has the resignations of the mayor and councilmen identified with the saloon business all written out. She will immediately hold a conference with the city officials, who will include all the saloon men. If they will not sign the resignations she will take the train out which leaves at 3:30. When the train is out of sight martial law will be declared.

"Colonel Lawson and his men are not going with Miss Hobbs. They will remain in the background until she has given the saloon men an opportunity to settle this matter peacefully. But if the saloons are not closed by 4 o'clock the town will be put under martial law. The saloons will be closed; the booze will be shipped out, and every man with a gun will have it taken away from him."

While Colonel Lawson took only five men with him, the governor said there were "a few innocent spectators sitting around in the sage brush, and no contingency will arise which he is not prepared to take care of."

Will Not Burn Buildings.

Governor West got his first intimation of what was going on through The Capital Journal wire this afternoon. The United Press had a special wire, and one minute after Miss Hobbs had begun reading her message from the governor the story was being flashed over the wire. The governor stated that the last paragraph of the dispatch is a mistake, as he had given no instructions to burn the buildings, or anything else.

Governor May Go Himself.

The governor added that unless he heard from Col. Lawson this afternoon, that all was right at Copperfield, that he would start tonight from Portland with 20 militiamen to assist him in settling the matter.

SOME SHARP DECLINES.

[UNITED PRESS LEARNED WIRE.] New York, Jan. 2.—The only important changes in opening prices at the opening of the stock market today were sharp declines in American T. & T. and U.S. Each of these fell 1. Trading was light. Later business increased and the market broadened. Canadian Pacific and New Haven rose 2 and American T. & T. wiped out its earlier loss. Northwestern and Reading made good gains. Bonds were steady. The market closed dull.

The total amount of land purchased in the eastern states for federal forests is nearly 800,000 acres. So far the principal work on these areas has involved their protection against forest fires.

Truly a merry Christmas, to many, perhaps to the great majority, but every Christmas time brings its terrible tragedies of disaster and crime.

REBUKE BY SARCASM.

About the Poorest Place to Use It Is in the Classroom.

In a well known Boston school there was a boy conspicuously dull at his Latin. He was a straightforward fellow and a gentleman by birth and breeding, but he was a bungler at syntax.

One morning he had tangled himself in a simple phrase. The teacher asked a question that should have cleared him. But the poor lad did not know the answer.

Then the teacher leaned back in his chair, rolled his gray eyes to the ceiling and said for all the class to hear, "I have been told that it is a hard thing to stuff a wildcat with butter, particularly if you have to do it with a hot awl, but that is child's play compared with putting Latin in a boy like this."

Of course the laugh came, but as the boys laughed they despised the teacher.

"Sarcasm," said Carlyle, "is the language of the devil." Be that as it may, it has turned many a schoolroom into a place of torment.

A boy may be too dull to be in school, but while allowed to be there he can never be dull enough to justify a knife thrust from one whose first duty is to help and cheer him.—Boston Herald.

OYSTERS AND DYSPETICS.

When the Bivalves May and When They Should Not Be Eaten.

It is popularly supposed that the oyster digests himself in the human stomach owing to the great size of the liver, which is crushed as mastication begins and is thought to digest the mollusk itself. As the oyster, moreover, contains some 10 per cent of extremely assimilable protein, together with phosphorized fats and glycogen. It has always been freely administered to convalescents, while dyspeptic bon vivants have never hesitated to eat it abundantly.

Dr. From expresses the opinion that the oyster may be allowed, therefore, to those dyspeptics whose gastric functions are deficient, in anorexia, gastric stony, ulcer and incipient cancer, and to convalescents from acute disease, as it is likely to improve the appetite and to excite the stomach to increased motor and chemical activity.

But to the large number of dyspeptics whose stomachs are hyperacid or hypersensitive Dr. From would forbid the oyster as well as all other stimulating foods. In many of these dyspeptics the gastric secretion is already sufficient, and it is unnecessary and unwise to increase it.—New York Press.

Made the Judge Perspire.

Sir John Charles Day, the English judge who earned the title of the "hoodlum's terror," died at the age of eighty-two. In the nineteen years Sir John was a judge of the high court—from 1882 to 1901—he was noted for his gift of solemn humor and for his drastic flogging sentences. In fourteen years he sentenced 137 criminals to 3,700 strokes of the cat. Once he said to a gang of Liverpool ruffians: "I am not going to give you men long terms of imprisonment, but when you go in you get twenty lashes of the cat; when you have been in nine months you get twenty lashes of the cat; before you come out you get twenty lashes of the cat. And then you can show what you have got to your friends." He was perhaps the only English judge who ever did "hard labor." While on a visit to a prison he tried the treadmill, but when he asked to be set free the guard pretended not to hear his request. The judge was permitted to abandon his experiment.

Spread of the English Language.

The English language is the richest, most virile and most powerful of all the languages now to be found among men. The men who conceived and made good this nation were Englishmen, and of course they spoke the only language they knew anything about, the language of their ancestors, the English language. The great Dr. Dollinger said of this language that "to it is assigned in the coming age the intellectual supremacy that in ancient times belonged to the Greeks and afterward to the Romans." In 1700 English was the language of 30,000,000 people. Today it is the language of 175,000,000, and by the end of the century it will be the language of 300,000,000 people.—New York American.

Tactful.

"Miss De Vere," said the lady who was entertaining the popular actress, "would you mind telling me what your real name is?"

"My real name? Oh, yes. It is Tubbs—Sylvia Tubbs. But I hope you will not introduce me to your guests by it."

"Oh, no; you needn't be afraid. I'm just as much ashamed of it as you are."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Pin Money.

It was the bride's first request for money.

"I must have some pin money," said she.

"Certainly," said the bridegroom.

"Here's a quarter. That ought to buy five or six papers of pins."—Washington Herald.

Slow, but Not Sure.

"Your daughter is not engaged to young Johnson yet, then? I suppose it is a case of slow and sure?"

"Well, yes—he is slow, and she is not at all sure."

Labor is the fabled magician's wand, the philosopher's stone and the cap of Fortunatus.—Johnson.

Even if a little slowly the Democrats in congress have certainly done some big business.

Woman's Hair Peaches To Knees

A Year Ago Was Threatened With Baldness—Tells How She Made Her Hair Grow.

Mrs. Esther Emery, now visiting friends in the city, is the fortunate possessor of marvelously beautiful hair, which, when loosened from its coils, falls to her knees. Moreover it is of soft, silky and fluffy texture and in color a glorious glossy gold. Yet just one year ago she was threatened with baldness. Urged to tell how she had obtained this wonderful growth in so short a time, she said: "Had any one told me such marvelous results could be accomplished so quickly, I positively would not have believed it. Twelve months ago my hair, which then reached barely to my shoulders, was falling out at an alarming rate and growing very thin, actually exposing the bald scalp in several spots. It was dull and lifeless in color, turning grey in patches and very dry and brittle. My head was covered with dandruff and itched like mad all the time. I tried fully a dozen different hair tonics, but they were all the same and never did me a bit of good. One day I chanced to read in my home paper of a simple home prescription to make the hair grow that was recommended by a well known physician. It said that by taking ordinary Lavona de Composee and mixing with Bay Rum and Menthol Crystals and applying to the scalp each night with the finger tips that new hair would grow very rapidly. I decided to try it and I had my druggist mix 2 oz. of the Lavona de Composee with 6 oz. of Bay Rum and 1/2 drachm of Menthol Crystals, and started to use it. My, how quickly my hair did grow. First the hair stopped falling, the itching ceased and the dandruff disappeared. Then tiny little hairs appeared all over my scalp. These grew and grew as though nothing would ever stop them. They are growing yet, and while, of course, I have used the treatment steadily and expect to continue it, at least until my hair reaches the floor, I might have stopped and been perfectly satisfied at the end of three months. I think that any woman can get long, thick, beautiful hair by using this prescription as I have recommended it to several friends and all are delighted with the result. The prescription is very inexpensive and any druggist can fill it."

Knew What to Do.

Speaking of rare presence of mind recently recalled to ex-President Taft the case of a handsome young woman of his acquaintance. She had gone to the railway station to meet a man friend of the family, and when he debarred from the train the young man lost his head and impulsively kissed her. The girl thought it the part of prudence to tell her mother of the affair, upon which the latter was simply horrified.

"You don't mean to tell me that he had the impudence to kiss you?" she cried. "And to think of the crowd at the station! Why, my dear, what did you do in such an embarrassing situation?"

"Why, mother, I just kissed him back, of course," coolly replied the young woman. "I wanted to give all those people the impression that we were relatives."—New York Tribune.

The Shoe For You

In this present day of the increased cost of raw materials there is too much desire on the part of many shoe manufacturers to give in to the demand of many people and turn out a low priced shoe. Then, to still be able to make a profit, the cheapest materials are resorted to, and the result is a shoe which is unsatisfactory and very expensive when wear is considered.

The wise and careful buyers, knowing what raw materials cost and that quality, wear and comfort decide real economy, demand a better shoe. For this trade we carry the known nationally as the best and most economical shoe for the money. If you want the most in wear and comfort for the money, just try Hanan Shoes once. It will solve your footwear problem—solve it economically and for all time.
